Manager's Report

First of all, let me say congratulations to Brian Beahm and Eric Bazerghi on their reelection to the Board of Directors. Both were reelected to a three year term expiring May 2016. Thank you to all those who submitted their proxies and those who attended the sixteenth Annual Meeting of Broadlands Association, Inc. Officer positions will be determined at the June 11th Board of Directors meeting.

As I will be celebrating my first anniversary on June 6, I thought this would be a good opportunity to reflect on some of the changes that have been implemented in the past year and discuss what we foresee for this association in the future. In the past year, we have executed improvements like repainting of the fire lanes for the first time, altering the layout inside the nature center to improve flow, and establishing a paint cycle on the townhome mailboxes. HLS did some extensive soil amendments to enhance turf areas as well as extensive stump removal. We have also begun to upgrade landscaping at the pools and performed some much needed repairs and touchups at the pools and bath houses. Many of these items are phased in over months or years and will continue to see improvements. We have also upgraded some of the office equipment, improving efficiency and reducing expenses.

Going forward, we are looking to expand the nature center programs as well as implement holiday lights decorations and yard maintenance contests. We are eagerly anticipating the new clubhouse that will be located off of Waxpool Road in the developing section known as Broadlands Station. This will provide the community with a fitness center, some much needed storage and office space for the HOA, plus a large meeting room that will be available for HOA Board and Committee meetings and for event rentals. We will also phase in street and pathlight repainting and be performing some road maintenance on the private roads. An upcoming major project will be the Stone House restoration, which will be phased in and overseen by our Stone House Committee and include a new roof, wall repairs, and storm shutters.

As you may have seen, we have been offering Broadlands logo magnets for sale in the Nature Center for the past few months. We are also looking to offer Broadlands logo gear such as t-shirts and hats to promote our wonderful community. If you have ideas for further improvements, programs, or changes you'd like to see, please contact me at 703-729-9704 or sarah@broadlandshoa.com.

Cheers!

From the Naturalist, Alexandra Vlk

Come by the Broadlands Nature Center to check out the new members of our family! Recently we have added an awesome glofish aquarium to the kid's room. You will see three beautiful neon glofish that resemble little lightning bolts. Goldy, the goldfish, also has a new friend. A calico goldfish was introduced to her tank to provide a little companionship. If you have any suggestions for a name, please email them to naturalist@broadlandshoa.com or stop by the Nature Center to share!

In addition, we will be fostering Ziggy, a red corn snake. His real home is at the Audubon's Rust Sanctuary in Leesburg, but he will be staying at the Broadlands center over the summer. Ziggy is an extremely loveable guy with lots of personality. He is brightly colored with reddish-orange skin and red eyes. And he is a strikingly handsome fellow that definitely catches one's eye! Come watch Ziggy and Sunny eat their meal at the 2nd Saturday program!

We would like to give a special thank you to all of the volunteers for the time and hard work they put towards the care of our precious residents!

“Sugar-free, but not Risk-free”
Sugar substitutes are big business. Less sugar can mean weight loss, improved health, diabetic control, and even reduced tooth decay. The quest for products that can sweeten and cook like sugar is ongoing. Xylitol is a common substitute, especially when it comes to gum. Not only does xylitol offer sweetness, but it has also been shown to reduce periodontal disease from its antibacterial properties. These are great, provided you are human. For dogs, xylitol is potentially lethal.

In the canine body, the pancreas confuses xylitol with real sugar and releases insulin to store the “sugar”. The problem is that xylitol does not offer the extra calories of sugar and the rush of insulin only serve to remove the actual sugar/glucose in the bloodstream. Blood sugar levels plummet resulting in weakness, disorientation, tremors, and potentially seizures. It doesn’t take many sticks of gum to poison a dog, especially a small dog (see below). Symptoms typically begin within 30 minutes and can last for more than 12 hours. Vomiting and diarrhea can also occur.

The other reaction that can occur with xylitol in dogs is the actual destruction of liver tissue. How this happens remains unknown but the doses required to produce this effect are much higher than the hypoglycemic doses mentioned above. Signs take longer to appear (usually around 8-12 hours later) and surprisingly not all dogs that experience this hepatic necrosis will show hypoglycemia first. Internal bleeding is commonly involved.

The hypoglycemic dose of xylitol for dogs is considered approximately 0.1 grams per kilogram. A typical stick of gum contains 0.3-0.4 grams of xylitol, which means that a 10 pound dog could be poisoned by as little as a stick and a half of gum. The dose for liver failure is roughly 10 times this, so a 10 pound dog would have to eat an entire package of unopened gum, and this amount of gum would probably cause only hypoglycemia in an 80-90 lb. dog. (Note – the current gums that use Xylitol are Dentyne Ice, Orbit, and Trident)

Treatment: Ideally, a patient can be seen quickly to induce vomiting. But if the ingestion has occurred at an unknown time and the dog is symptomatic, then a sugar IV drip is the proper course of action for 24 hours. Liver enzyme and blood clotting tests are monitored for 2-3 days as well.

So watch where you put that gum, even the ABC gum (“already been chewed”) that your dog can get to in the trash. It just might save his life. Till next time,

Dr. Steve, ashburnanimals.com, (703) 729-0700
p.s. At this time, there are no reports of xylitol toxicity in cats.

Free Gardening Lecture – Counting on Pollinators

Master Gardeners know that bees are the most important pollinator of food plants in the northeast and they are in decline. "Counting on Pollinators: The Banshee Reeks Bee Inventory" is the topic for the free June 6th lecture at 7 pm at the Rust Library, 380 Waterford Road NW, Leesburg. In the context of pollinators and their importance to plant and biodiversity conservation, and to the overall health and function of the global ecosystem, Ms. Elizabeth Sellers will provide an introduction to bees as pollinators and to the Banshee Reeks Bee Inventory. Ms. Sellers will discuss living with, gardening for, and conserving pollinators, as well as opportunities and resources available for learning more about and working with pollinators.

With the help and support of volunteers from the community and the U.S. Geological Survey, the Banshee Reeks Bee Inventory began in 2010 to collect the baseline data needed to assess the numbers and status of the Banshee Reek bees. This collection of bee population data and information is critical to the successful monitoring, management and conservation of bees, other pollinators, and their Banshee Reeks habitat. Ms. Sellers is currently working on publishing the results of the survey so that others may have access to this unique data.

Ms. Sellers has a passion for field research and has worked on the World Bee Checklist and the North American Pollinators Protection Campaign. Described by her colleagues in the science community as an "incurable naturalist," she has a Bachelor of Science in Tropical Biology and Geomorphology from James Cook University in Australia.

KEEP KIDS LEARNING OUTDOORS THIS SPRING!

Parents are always looking for the most unusual, interesting activities to give their kids that the children will feel excited and learn at the same time. Raising butterflies is truly an educational experience that every child will want to do over and over again.

You can take the kids on a hike to search for butterfly eggs and collect them, then make a home for them.

Did you know that the monarch butterflies that live in North America migrate?

Monarch butterflies are the only insect to migrate up to 2,500 miles to get out of the cold weather and hibernate. But not all monarch butterflies migrate; only the fourth generation of monarchs can migrate each year because the first three generations die after about six weeks from escaping their chrysalids.

Did you know that monarch butterflies go through four generations each year? The first three generations hatch from their chrysalis state and live for up to six weeks, but the fourth generation continues to live on for up to nine months so that they can migrate to a warmer climate, hibernate, and then start a new first generation in the spring time.

A Beautiful and Healthy Garden

By: Jill Johnson, Loudoun County Master Gardener

June is the month when the gardener begins to reap what he has sown: birds and butterflies attracted to worm-rich soil and nectar-filled flowers, lush vegetables beginning to bear fruit and a leafy green tree canopy providing shade for a hammock or pair of chairs. What can you add to make your green space a haven for you and your family to enjoy?

June's longer days means everything is growing rapidly, including weeds. Control them by weeding diligently and covering bare soil with a layer of mulch. Japanese beetles arrive now and can be easily handpicked in the morning before they wake up and tossed into a jar of soapy water. The soapy water treatment also works well with stinkbugs.

It pays to be vigilant in the vegetable garden too. Keep plants weeded and mulched and be on the lookout for mites, tomato horn worms, vine borers and other pests. Drop insects in soapy water in the early morning and remember to remove eggs from the undersides of leaves by rubbing them off. Handpicking is a tedious task but it is necessary in an organic garden. Pick up a copy of "Good Bug, Bad Bug" at the Extension Office in Leesburg so you can differentiate between pests and beneficial insects. Continue to fertilize vegetables with fish emulsion or other organic fertilizer. Plant some pumpkin seeds now and they'll be ready by Halloween.

Finally, extend the beauty of your annual and perennial flowers by deadheading them to encourage new blooms.

reduce pesticide use, conserve water, protect water quality, remove invasive exotic plants, plant native species and support birds and other wildlife. ## Purr-fect Kitty Care

By: Shannon M. Pecora,
MA

Can you guess what type of pet we see most in our office each day? If you said, “Dog!” then you are absolutely correct! On average, canines can make up 85% of our business, or a very large percentage of our tail-wagging, face-licking working days. But can you guess how much of our total patient base is feline? Over the past few years, that number has remained steady at about 25%, yet they are certainly not one-quarter of our appointment totals. (By the way, we also treat exotics and pocket pets, and they do play a small role in those total figures, too). So, why aren’t those kitties making up more of our chin-scratching, petting-and-purring business days?

Pet owners can tend to think of cats as independent, self-reliant creatures who are happier when allowed to stay comfortable and sheltered in their own homes. We’re quick to associate car rides and vet visits with fear and trauma. Therefore, why not just let our cats remain in their daily routines? If they don’t “seem” ill or injured, why bother them?

If you’re still in the mood for guessing games, then you probably figured out that the purpose of this article is to relay the benefits of bringing your cat to the vet for regular visits. And you may have also guessed that we would compare feline health care to human health care.

Our human doctors like to see us for regular physicals to track our baseline health and to try to catch any issues early; the same is true for cats—and for all pets, really. Plus, prevention is key. You might think, “My cat never leaves my house. What could pose a risk in her life?” True, this scenario does present a great deal of “maybes”. Maybe I’ll step in an outdoor cat’s urine and bring feline distemper in on my shoe. Maybe a rabid animal will get into my garage if the door is accidentally left open. Maybe my dog will run through rabbit feces in the yard and bring an intestinal parasite in to my cat. Maybe a heartworm-carrying mosquito will enter through a tear in a window screen and bite my cat. Maybe none of these will happen, but any of them could happen—easily. And if something does happen, cats can be very good at hiding their symptoms until an injury or illness has progressed quite far (have you ever known a cat who wanted to show a sign of weakness?). Testing for and protecting against such problems, via exam, vaccination, at-home products, and other doctor recommendations, are generally easier, safer, more cost effective, and more comfortable than diagnosing and treating a major illness. Yes, it is a bit of a “doom and gloom” outlook, but why not do all that you can to keep your cat healthy, happy, and with your family for as many years as possible?

If you start the vet visit routine early in life, your cat should get used to the idea, even if begrudgingly so. Try adding a favorite blanket, toy, or treat to the carrier to make the car ride more inviting, and try leaving the carrier out for your cat to access all the time so it’s less daunting. You can even check to see if your vet has set aside times when they see cats only to help minimize some of the veterinary office stress. But no matter what, get your kitties out of the house and to the vet about every six months (or more often as issues arise), both for their health and for your peace of mind.

Learning how to swim is the most efficient way to make your summer at the pool safe and enjoyable for everyone. Since summer and swim season are around the corner, it is good to start thinking about swim lessons.

Keeping your kids safe is our priority-and it's fun too!

When most of us are enjoying ourselves at the pool or beach, accidents are not the first thing on our minds. Yet, drowning is the 2nd leading cause of death for children ages 1-14. Research has found that participation in formal swimming lessons can reduce the risk of drowning by 88%.

OUR PROGRAM

For more information and course description please visit us on our web site www.highsierrapools.com and e-mail us to lessons@highsierrapools.com or call 703-920-1750 ext 124.

Classes are organized in four levels according to the level of child's previous swim skills:

Parents should review the skills required for each level and register their child for the appropriate class. If parents do not feel competent to do that, the instructor would do an evaluation prior to enrollment. The Instructor determines if each child is in the appropriate level; this may result in moving the child to a different level.

6th Annual Infnitive Sprint Tri in Broadlands set for June 23, 2013

We are excited to once again host our showcase triathlon in Broadlands: Infnitive Sprint Tri on June 23. As in prior summers, we expect a flurry of participants and spectators from VA, MD, DC and PA in the Broadlands Community over race weekend!

Tri participants enjoy the course, which has been hailed as challenging for experienced triathletes and fun for newer competitors. Spectators, neighbors, and volunteers line the streets to cheer on racers, who continually rate this triathlon as one of their favorites. If you've raced it, you know! If not, come out this year and find out what the buzz is all about!

As in prior years, the race starts and finishes at The Southern Walk Pool. The race kicks off at 7:00AM with a 400m swim. The bike course is a 6 mile loop on Claiborne and side roads between Broadlands Blvd and Croson Lane; bikers ride two loops. The final leg is a 5k run on the community trails. Loudoun County Sheriff Officers will be out in full force, but please be cognizant of bikers on the road early Sunday morning, June 23rd between 7:00 and 8:45AM.

Special thanks to all Broadlands residents for your support of our event; we've had great success over the last 5 years, and look forward to another great summer! Feel free to cheer on our bikers and runners...many of whom are neighbors competing in their first triathlon! Our Broadlands' race is becoming well known as a great first timer tri event!

As always, our race supports a local charity. "It's rewarding to be able to host well-organized fitness events in our own backyard, while at the same time giving back to our community", notes race Director, Kathleen McFarlane.

Race registration closes on June 15 or upon sell out. For more information, including course maps please visit: www.katmacevents.com.

Golden Pond Teachers Selected to Present at VSRA in Virginia Beach

Congratulations to our very own Golden Pond School in Ashburn! Their Kindergarten teachers have been invited to present at the 2013 Virginia State Reading Association (VSRA) conference in Virginia Beach as well as at the International Reading Association (IRA) conference in San Antonio Texas later this month.

The VSRA conference is described as an "amazing professional development opportunity for educators across Virginia and the country". VSRA sets the trend for the best practices in literacy instruction, support and research. At the VSRA conference Kindergarten teachers Maggie Gearing, Lisa Moriarty, Kathy Sestak, and Cindy Sikora along with music teacher Tracy Foster will make a presentation on the amazing success they have found at Golden Pond School integrating music in their literacy program.

Thousands of reading specialists from around the world attend the IRA conference. This year the IRA challenged educators to write their own integrated curriculum and submit it for publication. The integrated curriculum model follows Golden Pond's philosophy so it was a natural fit to highlight their multifaceted approach to learning. At the IRA conference Kathie Burrell, Lisa Moriarty and Traci Wagner have been asked to present Golden Pond's Common Core Curriculum unit on frogs for Kindergarten through second grade which will be published by the IRA this year. Golden Pond is the only school accepted at the 2013 IRA conference that is independent and not associated with a university. Golden Pond is currently implementing this unit into their full day kindergarten curriculum.

Introducing Monkeypants, June's Cover Shot

His birth name is Monkeypants but the family just calls him Monkey, or Monk. Or if you're our three year old, Monka Monka.

Now 2, Monkey chose us, virtually, from a rescue in Richmond called Gracie's Guardians, created for Gracie, one of the pit bulls seized from Michael Vick's dog fighting ring. Monkey's mother is a pit bull, though the resemblance is faint, but the father is unknown...my wife thinks Rhodesian Ridgeback, partially due to his looks, athleticism and loyal behavior and partially due because it's fun to say "Rhodesian Ridgeback". Through a friend that volunteers at Gracie's, I began following their Facebook page and a three month old Monkeypants caught my eye. It had been 2 years since I had lost my very beloved 13 year old dog, Guinness, and I still wasn't ready for another. But I found myself checking the Gracie's page when I didn't really have reason to, sneaking peeks at Monk. Three months went by and I couldn't believe this perfect dog hadn't been adopted and my wife Jenny couldn't believe I wouldn't shut up about it and sent me to scoop our new family member.

From the very beginning, Monkey was enamored and protective of our young son Jack and now spends much of his day being playfully mauled by a 3 year old toddler...you thought pit bulls sure are vicious right?

Monk always would choose a big stick to gnaw on or carry around the yard in our old neighborhood but we did most of our running on 14 acres of wooded trails with narrow pathways. Now that he lives in Broadlands with the wide paths, he's decided to 'branch' out. Jenny, Jack and I never really thought it was that strange but within a week on the paths, we knew differently. People would honk or roll down their windows and comment (my favorite was a woman who said "You just made my morning!") and then people started stopping to take pictures and regulars we passed would come up with jokes (one jogger calls him the "Branch Manager"). I apologize to some for him being a road hog or tell others he's working on his Jogger Battering Ram, patent pending, but nobody seems to mind him taking up more than his fair share of space. Even the cops seem to like him, as one officer made a U turn, flipped on his loudspeaker and declared "That is awesome!" and rolled on. A similar situation happened with Natalie, the editor for the Broadlands newsletter, and that's how we ended up here on the cover.

Whenever we leave for a run/walk, Monk picks up his 'stick' (a stick lasts him 3 weeks or so, then another equally large stick catches his fancy) and carries it door to door, dropping in the front lawn for the next run. Depending on the day, we do 2-4 miles on the Broadlands trails. If you see us, feel free to yell out to Monkey and tell him to 'stick with it' or ask how many miles he's 'logged'!

Tom (dad), Jenny (mom) and Jack (son/Monk brother)

Girl Scout Troop 5958 Coupon Challenge to Benefit Food Bank

The advisor for Senior Girl Scout Troop 5958 challenged the girls to look through local grocery store circulars and her coupon stash to find the best deals on 7 items that the food bank is currently in need of.

The advisor agreed to supply $100 of her money and with their findings, they would buy as much as possible. The Scouts made envelopes for each store (Harris Teeter, Giant, Safeway, Walgreens and CVS) listing the deals and including the coupons. The troop shopped and purchased all the items the girls identified.

The troop used $95.36 to purchase all of the items below which were donated to Loudoun Interfaith Relief:

- 16 cans of tuna
- 10 cans of soup
- 5 bags of pasta
- 14 cans of chef Boyardee pasta
- 6 cans of vegetables
- 15 boxes of cereal
- 16 juice boxes
- 4 jugs of apple juice
- 19 boxes of macaroni and cheese

The total without savings cards and coupons would have been $210.07 – the girls achieved total savings of 114.71!!
